Time is the shadow on the dial, the striking of the clock, the running of the sand, day and night, summer and winter, months, years, centuries. — these are but arbitrary and outward signs, the measure of Time not Time itself. Time is the Life of the soul.

— Longfellow

Time hath a taming hand.

— John Newman

DR. K. RICHARD JOHNSON

President

THOSE who enter the teaching profession need qualities of leadership. Whether in small towns or big cities, the teacher has the responsibility of directing the learning of youth. In order to fulfill adequately these responsibilities it is necessary for the teacher to be emotionally mature, which will help greatly in establishing the right kind of an environment for learning.

With the teacher rests not only the responsibility of helping youngsters learn and develop into good citizens but also helping parents recognize their place in the learning process. By building up good teacher-parent relationships, the job of educating youth will not rest with the school alone but will quickly spread to the community as a function for all. To bring about this complete cooperation is a slow process. With the right leadership of the mature teacher, who it not discouraged by the apathetic attitude often exhibited by many, progress is eventually noticed.

Today more and more members of the community take greater part in school affairs. Where before there was a lack of cooperation, there is now a working together due to an understanding. Problems of the youth of today affect the community. The earlier the young teacher recognizes this important responsibility of the profession the sooner her efforts will be fruitful.

We are fortunate to be in a professional school where the entire program centers around one common goal—the education of the child. Our entire life within our college walls makes us ever conscious of this responsibility. Our working together and early association with children of all ages give us the rare privilege of knowing the value of leadership in teaching. There is every opportunity from our professional living together to have a good knowledge of what is expected before the first experience in the field. To the seniors who are about to enter into this phase—we salute you—not only because you are teachers but because you are leaders of the future of our way of life.

A SPRIG OF EARLY SPRING GREENERY . . . A BEWILDERED STUDENT . . . OR THE CHAOS OF OUR PRESENT WORLD SITUATION — THESE THINGS SHE VIEWS WITH AN EYE FOR THE BEAUTY, GOOD OR WISDOM CONTAINED IN THEM.

A SINCERE INTEREST IN YOU AS A PERSON IS UPPERMOST IN HER HUMAN CONTACTS. AND THE LIMITS OF HER TIME AND ENERGIES ARE BOUNDLESS AS SHE OFFERS AN ENCOURAGING HAND, A COUNSELING WORD OR A SYMPATHETIC EAR TO ALL STUDENTS—ESPECIALLY THOSE SO MANY MILES FROM HOME.

A TRUE TEACHER, A MODEL OF GOODNESS AND SINCERITY, BUT MORE THAN THAT—A FRIEND.

Too busy with the crowded hours, to fear, to live or die.

With joy, yet sadness we terminate four years at National—a time of professional and personal growth. Years filled with memories of proms, mixers, the daisy chain and the junior brunch lie behind us — things which we have shared with others for the enjoyment of all.

We longed for May—yet hesitated to see it come, causing us to give up our National security for a new and challenging future. Our feelings are mixed as we bid a sincere and fond farewell.

Our "Snowball prom" added a festive note to the College's holiday season. But on the whole, socially we sat back—just a little—and let the other classes entertain us while our energies were put to final student teaching and placement procedures.

Daisy Chain brings a farewell . . .

A final farewell is made to the seniors with the Daisy Chain. Each year sophomore class girls escort the graduating seniors on their last day at National.

This tradition at our College is a beautiful one — one in which each girl looks forward to being a part.

SCHOLARSHIP

Each spring deserving members of the Junior class are awarded scholarships for the senior year on the basis of scholastic and student-teaching achievements. These scholaships are made possible through gifts and funds which have been presented by friends and alumnae of the College.

Not only is a scholarship an award to work for, but an award which is thrilling to receive.

JUNIOR CLASS

Alas! How swift the moments fly.

— John G. Adams

"Say, those barbecues the Junior class served were really great." This was the usual comment of those who ate supper in the Rec. House on Tuesday nights before the foreign films. We had fun making and serving barbecues this year as we had in past years.

The "Big Apple" booth at the Santa Cellar Sale attracted many in December. We then looked forward to our Junior Prom as the school year drew swiftly to a close.

Farewells were exchanged with our "big sisters" at the Junior-Senior brunch as we realized that within a year we too would be in the same position.

We have finished two years at National and we cannot go on without a backward look. Our Sophomore class initiated projects new to National . . . the Sophomore Scratch Sheet, our class paper; our special locker for class bulletins; the Volunteer work program at two children's homes; and the Date Bureau for the whole school.

Cookie sales and Sunday night suppers at the dorm helped raise money for the sophomore mixer at the North Shore Hotel, which was a huge success.

Our year was culminated with the traditional daisy chain to honor the seniors. As we exchanged songs we found a way to tell them that they "live in our hearts . . ."

We anticipate our future with excitement and a tinge of sadness, for we know how quickly the time will come for us to leave N.C.E.

FRESHMAN CLASS

We were the green-horn freshmen but we're not green any more. We've become confirmed Nationalites after a happy year full of activity.

Some of the high lights were: our get-acquainted party in September, the hilarious skit the girls of 2B Hall at the dorm created and enacted for Hoot Nanny night; our class mixer in January and of course the work we did for May Festival.

Our class was well represented in all of National's organizations and we hope we have succeeded in adding something to the National family.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

DR. ROBERT TOPP
Dean of Graduate School

Not too many years ago a young man could launch his professional career with only a high school diploma as proof that he was well prepared. A high school education put one well up on the ladder to success, and only a minority of young people were able to achieve this education height.

As for young women, their place was in the home and no one imagined that even a high school diploma was prerequisite to success as a wife and mother.

To become a teacher in those so-called "good old days" required very little more. Perhaps two years at a normal school would do the trick. Reluctantly at first, young women were permitted to prepare themselves for teaching and other "appropriate" occupations.

How times have changed!

Recognizing the importance of sound preparation, (recognizing the importance of just living in our complex society) educational requirements have gone up and up. Several states now require master's degrees or five years of preparation for their teachers. Many more states are considering adopting such regulations, and only wait until the teacher shortage eases up to do so.

Cities that can afford it are improving their faculties by strongly encouraging members to earn their master's degrees, and even paying tuition fees in some instances. Salary schedules incorporate considerable increases in salaries for the master's degree.

As for "just being a wife and mother," it is now recognized that there is no more important contribution to be made to our society, that the task is infinitely complex, and that a college degree is in no sense wasted when one takes those vital roles.

All of this is good, not bad. It is good that requirements for teachers are going up; that preparation for citizenship and parenthood is recognized. Our world and our country depend upon its people keeping pace with change, and the change in the way of life is continuous.

We who teach dare not let changing times pass us by. We must keep ourselves always ready to meet the needs of our children. And children never let time pass them by. Actually, we have no alternative but to keep ourselves prepared by conscientiously reading professional writing, attending professional meetings, attending school. Unless we do, we fail in our service to mankind.

One, two, three, four, five, six. Enough, enough dear watch.
Thy pulse hath beat enough. Now, stop and rest.

MARIENTHAL HALL

DORM OFFICERS

"The big baboon by the light of the moon was combing his auburn hair . . ." is a song which awakens many happy memories of dormlife. Its guest dinners, fire drills and PJ parties help to make this "home away from home" one of pleasure and companionship, not one of sorrow and homesickness.

Fall brings "Hoot Nanny night" with all its shenanigans. Winter brings the gayety of decking Marienthal's halls with Christmas greenery. Then the year is interrupted by a brief parting of room-mates and friends for a vacation. A new semester follows and spring brings its sun bathing, exams and graduation.

The time for good-byes comes — perhaps for only a summer or perhaps for longer — sorrow is felt at leaving and yet there is happiness because of the memories of a wonderful year spent together.

TOWN GIRLS' ASSOCIATION

Town Girls' Association has helped students coming from many sections of Chicago and its metropolitan area to feel that "they belong." Lasting friendships are built up between these commuting students at the "All School Picnic" early in the year or splash parties held throughout the year.

Christmas holiday activities were sparked by the annual Christmas dinner with Santa as the guest of honor.

The spring and yearly climax was reached with the Mother-Daughter luncheon, which gave mothers a chance to see and meet their daughters' classmates and their mothers.

A.C.E.

One of the most specialized organizations of professional importance at the College is the Association for Childhood Education.

This year to maintain stronger unity all members were asked to participate on committees which were assigned various aspects of the organization's

The appearance of speakers such as superintendents, parents and teachers throughout the year furnished practical knowledge to its members.

To encourage professional growth, members were invited to attend this year's annual international A.C.E. conference held at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Y.W.C.A.

The Y.W.C.A.'s program has been filled with a friendship tea, a retreat during which Dr. Troyer spoke on "Religious Life on the Campus" and weekly devotions at the dormitory.

Time has been given unselfishly to entertain the men in the Great Lakes shock wards and sponsor the annual appeal for the World University Service which affects university students around the world.

Through these various projects the members have found ways to help and be of service to others, to better understand themselves and the world around them and to realize God is in all phases of life.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

A better understanding of the world around us is afforded every member of the International Club.

Students from all over the world are brought together and are given an opportunity to exchange information about their various homelands. This year Miss Staley and the club's sponsor, Miss Neumann, shared the experiences of their European trip taken in the summer of 1953.

The year's activities were climaxed by a dinner which included new and exciting foods from foreign countries represented in its membership. A menu tantalizing enough to tempt any gourmet's appetite was arranged.

There is no line drawn between business and fun in this club—all is combined to give every member many happy and busy hours of fellowship, work and frolic.

Officers this year were: Faith Rolston, president; Betty Jane Misaka, secretary; Sharon Lenci, treasurer. Sponsor was Miss Neumann.

ATHLETIC CLUB

A new addition to the family of clubs at National can look back proudly at its first year.

Memories of fiery field hocky games in cold, brisk autumn weather and the drive and spirit put into the games to beat our rival, Mundelein, helped to achieve their success.

Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors were united as one team fighting for victory on the volleyball court or hockey field. This organization may be proud of its efforts to stimulate group and school spirit.

Officers were: Dorothy Holmes, president; Sandra Basch, vice-president; Virginia Montgomery, secretary; Sue Ominsky, treasurer.

ORCHESTRA

A chamber orchestra is once again a part of National's music activities. This is one of the largest and most diversified groups the College has ever experienced. Instruments representing the string, woodwind and brass families are included.

The orchestra and its soloists gave a concert in January but mainly their activities have centered about giving college musicians a chance to play together and enjoy their instruments.

Conductor: MR. JAMES KLEEMAN.

TEACHER AMBASSADORS

Who else but future teachers could recruit other young people for this profession. The group known as the Teacher Ambassadors is organized to inform high school graduates about the preparation for and the values of a teaching career. By presenting panel discussions and answering the many questions which arise in trying to choose the right career, these ambassadors have stimulated interest in elementary education.

As they have worked hand in hand with the Admissions Office, recruitment of future teachers has taken place during the year.

Officers this year were: Ardis Hansen, president; Polly Eddy, secretary. Dayton Grafman, Admissions Officer, acted as sponsor.

STAFF

Time in print . . . that's what the yearbook staff brings to you this year.

Throughout the year our staff was busy collecting pictures of both sentimental and important events and composing the copy to express the spirit and tradition of National.

The National represents your college and the staff hopes this collection of memories will help you look back on the time spent at N.C.E. with pleasure and satisfaction.

Bottom to Top: M. A. Griffin, M. A. Minneci, Miss Healy, sponsor; J. Farrington, E. Walsh, P. Moore, L. McCue, S. Glassman, N. Miller, B. Merkel, K. England, V. Montgomery.

CHAFF

"The representative voice of the student body" speaks from the pages of Chaff. In its open letters to the faculty; reports of pro and con opinions on debatable issues such as the honor system or polls concerning the students' attitudes on prominent national issues, the staff furthers the democratic ideals all journalists strive for.

There is a lighter side of the coverage of National's "35 newsbeats." News concerning the students as they work and play together and news of what's going on in our big neighbor Chicago are reported with the diversity and variation of a professional newspaper.

But reporting the news is only half the job of this group. Copy must be proof-read for validity and correctness; pages must be laid-out; heads must be written; ads must be solicited and billed, as the staff battles its budget and covers and uncovers all.

DANCE GROUP

The Dance Group provides an opportunity to enjoy and appreciate creative dance. To its participants it is a time to express oneself in the form of dance. To its audience it is a time to experience the beauty and imagination of this form of expression.

This year, as in the past, the Dance Group enhanced the production of the annual children's play. The May Festival offered another challenge to these dancers and after many hours of hard work and long rehearsals they helped make this final all-College production a success.

Officers for this year were: Helen Nesemann, president; Ruth Wolz, vice-president; Patty Kelly, secretary; Ruth McMichael, treasurer; Sponsor, Mrs. J. Duffy.

CHOIR

Pleasure and professional perfection are strived for by our choir. This year the group numbered 54, the largest group of voices ever organized at the college.

The fame of our choir has spread. Various organizations in Chicagoland have requested appearances of this group of singers.

One of the annual highlights of the year included the 5th annual presentation of the Messiah at the Wilmette Methodist Church joined by the church's mixed chorus.

The choir participated in the Music Festival and added sparkle to the May Festival.

Officers for this year were: Virginia Runge, president; Nancy Goode, vice-president; Sally Fisk, secretary; Polly Eddy, treasurer; Conductor, Mr. L. Cousins.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club can mark up another productive year as we look back at the productions of "The Little Snow Girl" and the adult plays produced this spring. Members have also actively participated in the Christmas Pageant and the May Festival.

Monthly meetings have been packed with interesting speakers such as Jim Hughes, who spoke of the amateur theatre, and Barbara Allen, who spoke of her life in Africa. The keen interest in foreign films and the Film Society resulted in the showing of a movie on the film-making industry and its history.

The annual Drama Club banquet was Chinese in motif this year and all enjoyed everything from the continental decorations to the little fortune cakes and chop suey.

Officers this year were: Mimi Lawrence, president; Mary Ann Willis, vice-president; Kathy King, secretary; Jan Knarr, treasurer; Miss McCaslin and Miss Healy, Mr. Zukowski, sponsors.

OUR MAY QUEEN and COURT

The May Festival brings many excitements. The climax of the program is the announcement of the May Queen.

Nine senior girls are chosen by the class to escort the May Queen. These girls are elected on the merits of leadership, citizenship and service to their class and school. The whole school then elects a senior girl (not necessarily on the court) to be crowned May Queen. Her identity is not known until she appears on the stage the night of the May Festival performance.

She is the spirit of sincerity, kindness and integrity.
